

Fall 2013 Newsletter

Newsletter Editor: Manfred Schmitt

schmittm@uni-landau.de

❖ In this Issue

IN THIS ISSUE	1
NEWS FROM THE PRESIDENT	2
NEWS FROM THE TREASURER	3
ISJR 2014 AWARDS	4
ISJR CONFERENCE 2014: UPDATE	4
ISJR TRAVEL AWARDS	5
JUSTICE-RELATED CONFERENCES	6
2014 POLITICAL PSYCHOLOGY PRE-CONFERENCE	6
JUSTICE CONNECTIONS III SYMPOSIUM	7
SPECIAL ISSUE OF THE JOURNAL OF BUSINESS ETHICS	8
JUSTICE-RELATED BOOKS	9
WEMMERS, J. (ED., 2014). REPARATION FOR VICTIMS OF CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY. THE HEALING ROLE OF REPARATION. ROUTLEDGE.	9
SPINI, D., ELCHEROTH, G., & CORKALO BIRUSKI, D. (EDS.). (2013). WAR, COMMUNITY AND SOCIAL CHANGE. COLLECTIVE EXPERIENCES IN THE FORMER YUGOSLAVIA. NEW YORK: SPRINGER.....	10
AWARDS TO ISJR MEMBERS	10
GRANTS TO ISJR MEMBERS.....	11
NEW AFFILIATIONS OF ISJR MEMBERS.....	11
RECENT JUSTICE-RELATED PUBLICATIONS OF ISJR MEMBERS	12
ISJR MEMBERSHIP AND LISTSERV	13

❖ News from the President

Dear ISJR members,

Not so new news but definitely worthy to be put on the record here again: On behalf of us all I would like to congratulate the winners of the 2014 ISJR awards, to be officially presented at next year's conference in New York. The winner of the ISJR Lifetime Achievement Award is Riël Vermunt from the University of Leiden, the Netherlands, and the winner of the ISJR Early Career Contribution Award is David Mayer from the University of Michigan, U.S.A. Both have made exceptional contributions to our field and are clearly deserving of these awards. David has a stellar record of publications and research impact in organizational justice at a yet early stage of his career. And Riël was influential in establishing our society and has over the decades been an influential justice researcher, mentor, respected colleague, and committed member of ISJR. Congratulations!

Having mentioned the conference, you will find in this newsletter an update from the organizing chair of the 2014 conference, John Jost, in form of a final call for submissions. Yes, final call - so get your skates on and make sure you submit your conference contribution by the deadline, December 15, 2013! Likewise, interested doctoral students who wish to participate in the PhD Workshop just before the conference, please submit your applications by December 15. For more information visit the website <http://social-justice-conference-2014.jimdo.com/home/phd-workshop/>.

And as one conference may not be enough for you: another little gem in the justice research calendar is the SPSP Morality and Justice Preconference, before the annual meeting of the Society for Personality and Social Psychology (SPSP). The 2014 Morality and Justice Preconference is organized by Aaron Kay, David Mayer and David Pizarro and will take place on February 13, 2014, in Austin, Texas. Among the invited speakers will be ISJR member Mitch Callan. The organizers are inviting contributions to a student poster session by December 31, 2013. ISJR will sponsor the event in the form of a cocktail hour accompanying the poster session to further lift the spirit (or is that spirits?!), as an opportunity to reach out to new members and promote ISJR and our journal, Social Justice Research. See the conference website at: <http://www.moralityandjustice.org/>

Indeed, I appeal to new and old members to join and re-join our cherished society. See the following Treasurer's News for further information.

As usual, there is lots more interesting material in this newsletter. So: Enjoy the read!

Michael Wenzel

ISJR President

❖ News from the Treasurer

Dear ISJR members,

It is hard to imagine, but yet another year is coming to a close and thus it will soon be time to renew your membership with the International Society for Justice Research for 2014.

Next year promises to be an especially valuable year for membership in ISJR, as we will be holding our biennial conference in June 2014. This year, the conference is being held at New York University, right in the heart of New York City. Please make every effort to attend. We are working to ensure it is one of our best conferences yet!

As you know, your membership in ISJR not only includes reduced conference registration rates but also includes a subscription to our journal, Social Justice Research. By renewing now, you will be sure to maintain an uninterrupted subscription to the journal. Your membership dues also assist with covering the modest expenses of maintaining our Society and providing annual awards.

Annual dues remain unchanged at $75 US for members with permanent positions, or $45 US for members without permanent positions. Dues for Associate Members are currently $10 US per year without a subscription to Social Justice Research and $40 US per year with a subscription to Social Justice Research.

You can renew your membership by going to:

<https://www.123signup.com/servlet/SignUp?PG=1532935182700&P=153293500>

To initially become a member:

<https://www.123signup.com/servlet/SignUp?PG=1532935182200&P=153293500>

To make a donation: Your contribution can help to support our grants and awards programs, sponsor members from developing nations, and provide travel awards for scholars from developing nations to attend the biennial ISJR conferences. If you have any preference for your donation, please indicate it while making the donation.

<https://www.123signup.com/servlet/SignUp?PG=1532935185200&P=153293500>

To update your membership profile:

<https://www.123signup.com/servlet/SignUp?PG=1532935182500&P=153293500>

If you experience any problems with this website (or with receipt of your journals), please let me know so that I might try to assist.

Thank you for your continuing support of the ISJR. I look forward to seeing your renewed membership very soon.

Sincerely,

Steven Blader

Treasurer

❖ ISJR 2014 awards

The International Society for Justice Research (ISJR) wishes to congratulate the recipients of its 2014 awards:

ISJR Lifetime Achievement Award for 2014: Riël Vermunt

Professor Riël Vermunt of the University of Leiden, the Netherlands, has over many years made significant and lasting contributions to the study of justice, specifically on procedural justice, its interrelations with distributive justice, and links to affect, self-esteem and stress. His self-authored book “The Good, the Bad, and the Just: How Modern Men Shape their World” is scheduled to be published in April 2014. Riel was further highly instrumental for the establishment of ISJR, which grew out of a series of interdisciplinary justice conferences he organised in the 1980s and an initial justice research centre that he co-founded at Leiden. Riel’s commitment to justice research and ISJR has not waned since and he has been an inspiring mentor for new generations of justice researchers.

ISJR Early Career Contribution Award for 2014: David Mayer

Assistant Professor David Mayer at the Ross School of Business at the University of Michigan, received his PhD in 2004 at the University of Maryland and has since produced an exceptional record of publications, many of them in leading journals in his field of management and organizational behaviour. His principal research interests are in morals/ethics in organizations, organizational justice, and affirmative action and workplace diversity. He is an incoming associate editor of the prestigious Academy of Management Journal, and currently co-organiser of the SPSP Preconference on Justice and Morality.

Both awards will be officially presented at the next biennial conference of the International Society of Justice Research, 19-22 June, 2014, in New York, at which both awardees will present an address.

Award committees:

- Lifetime Achievement Award: Members of the ISJR Executive Board
- Early Career Contribution Award: Sarah Brosnan (chair), Tyler Okimoto, and Michael Wenzel

❖ ISJR conference 2014: Update

Final Call for Papers (Deadline: December 15, 2013)

The 15th biennial conference of ISJR will be held from June 19-22, 2014, on the campus of New York University, organized by Professor John T. Jost. The conference will take place primarily in facilities of the Leonard N. Stern Business School, New York University, in the heart of Greenwich Village (near historic Washington Square).

We now invite submissions of symposia (consisting of four speakers—or three speakers plus a discussant), individual talks/papers, and posters. The deadline for submissions is December 15, 2013. Please make your submissions here: <http://social-justice-conference-2014.jimdo.com/home/online-submission/>

There will be three major conference themes:

- (1) Economic inequality (the 1% vs. the 99%);
- (2) Law, justice, and social science; and
- (3) Progress, social stability, and change.

We invite you to submit contributions—especially symposium contributions involving four speakers—on a topic related to one of the conference themes or on any other aspect of fairness, legitimacy, or social justice.

One of the keynote speeches will be given by Mahzarin R. Banaji, who is the Richard Clarke Cabot Professor of Social Ethics in the Department of Psychology at Harvard University.

Special invited symposia will be chaired by Guillermina Jasso (NYU/Sociology), Aaron C. Kay (Duke/Fuqua), Joshua Knobe (Yale Cognitive Science/Philosophy), Elizabeth Levy Paluck (Princeton Psychology/Public Policy), Manfred Schmitt (Koblenz-Landau/Psychology), Tom R. Tyler (Yale/Law School), and Kees van den Bos (Utrecht/Social Psychology).

There will be an opportunity for a guided tour of the Tenement Museum in New York City's Lower East Side neighborhood on Thursday morning, June 19, 2014 (followed by lunch), and there will be an opening reception that evening at NYU's Presidential Penthouse overlooking Washington Square. So please consider arriving in New York on Wednesday, June 18.

Additional information about the conference including travel, hotel accommodations (book early!) is available on the conference website: <http://social-justice-conference-2014.jimdo.com/home/isjr-2014/>.

John Jost

Conference Chair

❖ ISJR travel awards

ISJR wishes to encourage researchers from all over the world to attend its biennial conferences. We understand that the costs for travel and conference attendance can be considerable (and unfortunately often prohibitive) for researchers from countries with relative lower incomes and financial resources, specifically in the developing world.

ISJR offers up to 3 travel awards of $1000 each for researchers from low-income countries and poorly resourced institutions, if they are interested in presenting their research at the ISJR conference. The application process is as follows:

Application

Applicants apply for a travel award to ISJR President (Michael.Wenzel@flinders.edu.au), including

- details of the conference contribution: format (symposium, paper, poster), title, authors, author affiliations, abstract
- a short justification for their need of financial support

Deadline for travel award applications: February 15, 2014

In addition, applicants must submit their conference contribution as usual through the conference submission portal by the conference submission deadline: December 15, 2013.

Selection

Amongst those accepted by the conference program committee, the ISJR President and two executive committee members will evaluate the applications in terms of relative merit and need of applicants for the travel award. Winners of the award will be notified.

Award

The award payment ($1000) will be transferred following the conclusion of the conference.

❖ Justice-Related Conferences

2014 Political Psychology Pre-Conference

We invite you to join us for the 2014 Political Psychology Pre-Conference, to be held in conjunction with the annual SPSP meeting in Austin, Texas. The pre-conference will take place on February 13th at the Austin Convention Center.

We are very excited about our line-up of speakers:

Alan Abramowitz (Emory University)

John Chambers (Saint Louis University)

Leonie Huddy (Stony Brook University)

Alan Lambert (Washington University in St. Louis)

Ariel Malka (Yeshiva University)

Chris Mooney (Journalist and author of The Republican Brain)

Thomas Pyszczynski (University of Colorado, Colorado Springs)

Linda Skitka (University of Illinois at Chicago)

Registration is now open and will close when space is filled or January 13th, whichever comes first.

Student Talk: Graduate students are invited to submit proposals to give a 15-minute talk about work that will not be presented at the regular SPSP conference. Please email your 250-word abstract and CV directly to politpsych.spsp@gmail.com by December 1st, 2013. Please do not include identifying information in the abstract. Proposals that are not accepted for a student talk may be considered for a poster or paper-swap presentation.

Poster Session: To be considered for a poster presentation, submit a title and abstract (max. 250 words) along with your registration form before December 20th, 2013.

Paper Swap: We invite you to share your work with other conference attendees. Please bring copies of recently published papers, pre-prints, or papers that represent works-in progress. To have your paper listed in the pre-conference program, submit a title and abstract (max. 250 words) along with your registration form before December 20th, 2013.

Data Blitz: Participants with outstanding poster and paper swap submissions will be invited to present their work in rapid-pace form. They will give 5-minute talks using 4 slides and will entertain 1 brief audience question.

To submit your work for possible inclusion in the program, to register for the pre-conference, or to obtain more information, please visit:

http://www.psych.nyu.edu/spsp_politpsych

We hope to see you on February 13th – it promises to be a great day!

Sincerely,

Erin P. Hennes, University of California, Los Angeles

Chadly Stern, New York University

Benjamin C. Ruisch, Cornell University

Justice Connections III Symposium

CALL FOR REGISTRATION

No invitation for papers since speakers have already been invited.

Registration closes 15th May 2014

NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Hosted by Justice (Access and Administration) Research Group, School of Law and Justice, University of Canberra

SYMPOSIUM AIMS

This is a small and focused symposium with four sessions (see below). The aims are to generate discussion and debate about justice administration and access within society.

DATES & VENUE

Friday 30 May 2014, 9:00 am -5:30 pm

University of Canberra, Ann Harding Room - Building 24

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS/DISCUSSANTS

Dr Anna Carline, Reader, Law and Gender, Liverpool John Moores University

Prof. Rosalind Croucher, President of the ALRC

Hon Michael Kirby AC CMG, Former Judge, High Court of Australia

Prof Simon Rice OAM, ANU, Chair ACT Law Reform Advisory Council

Prof Margaret Thornton, Professor of Law ANU

Lorraine Walker, Chief Magistrate of the ACT

Dr Helen Watchirs OAM, ACT Human Rights Commissioner

CONFERENCE THEMES

Four sessions (four themes) each with 3 speakers and one discussant. The last part of each session will bring the intellectual 'threads' of session papers into a connected theme.

Justice and Gender

Justice and the Workplace

Justice and the Individual

Justice in a Comparative Context

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Academics

Research students

Law Honours students
 Legal practitioners
 Policy makers
 Human rights agencies
 Community service agency staff
 People with a justice interest/focus

DEADLINE FOR REGISTRATION
 15 May 2014

REGISTRATION FEE
 $50 for normal registration (incl. GST)
 $25 for Community Agency staff
 $20 for students (UC and external)
 FREE UC Law School staff members
 FREE Speakers and Discussants

Online Registration: <http://bit.ly/1akgmFF>

Professor Patricia Easteal AM, PhD
 Faculty of Business, Government & Law
 School of Law
 University of Canberra
 Canberra, ACT 2601
 +61 (0)405143702 (mobile)
 +61 (0)2 6201 5779 (tel)
 +61 (0)2 6201 5764 (fax)

Australian Government Higher Education
 Registered Provider CRICOS: #00212K

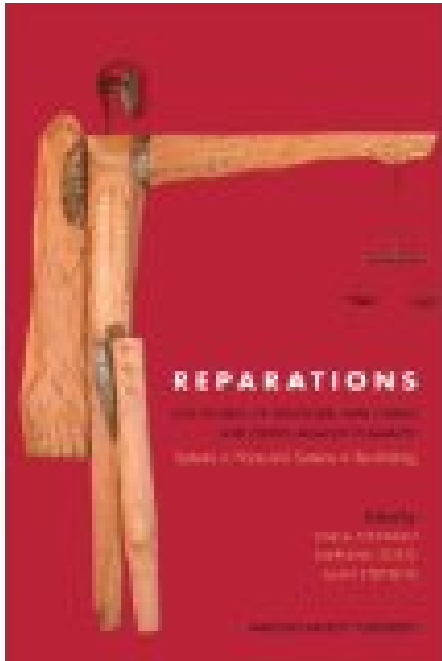

❖ Special Issue of the Journal of Business Ethics

We would like to invite submissions to a special issue of the Journal of Business Ethics on the theme of 'Context Influences on Workplace Ethics and Justice.' This Special Issue seeks to add to the field of enquiry at the intersection of organizational justice and behavioral ethics by focusing specifically on important but so far overlooked contextual influences on behavioral ethics and justice at work, for example culture, workgroup composition, social domains, leader's use of ethics and fairness, incentive systems, and situational cues that prime values or identities. We are especially encouraging submissions based on well-designed empirical investigations of these issues, but will also consider strong conceptual and theoretical contributions. The deadline for submission is December 1, 2013. For further information and details on the Special Issue please view the call for papers at <http://ojberg.org/ojberg/journal-of-business-ethics-special-issue-call-for-papers-context-influences-on-workplace-ethics-and-justice/>

Chris Bell

❖ Justice-Related Books

Wemmers, J. (Ed., 2014). Reparation for victims of crimes against humanity. The healing role of reparation. Routledge.

Each year, countless victims fall prey to crimes against humanity. These are among the worst crimes known to humans and include widespread occurrences of systematic murder, torture, rape, disappearances, forced deportation and political persecution. Crimes against humanity constitute an attack on human dignity and as such they violate the human rights of the victim, as well as the laws of humanity.

In recent years, following the creation of the International Criminal Court, there has been a growing interest in the prosecution of offenders and in particular, in reparation following crimes against humanity. While such measures are meant to provide justice for victims, victims are often forgotten or lost in legal debates about what constitutes reparation and who is eligible to receive it.

This book reaches beyond the boundaries of law and psychology and takes a multidisciplinary approach to the question of reparation for victims of crimes against humanity. Law does not take place in a vacuum and it is important to consider the impact of the law on the psychology of the victim, as well as the legal principles themselves. Herein lies the originality of this book, which bridges the gap between psychology, victimology, criminology and law and will be of key interest to academics and students engaged in the study of these areas.

Table of contents

Introduction, Jo-Anne M. Wemmers Part 1. The Victims 1. Healing Aspects of Reparations for Victims of Crimes against Humanity, Yael Danieli 2. Reparation and Recovery in the Aftermath of Widespread Violence, Christophe Herbert, Charlie Rioux and Jo-Anne M. Wemmers 3. Restoring Justice for Victims of Crimes against Humanity, Jo-Anne M. Wemmers Part 2. Victims and the Law 4. Reparative Justice at the International Criminal Court: Best practice or tokenism?, Mariana Goetz 5. It Doesn't Go Away with Time: Victims' need for reparation following crimes against humanity, Amissi M. Manirabona and Jo-Anne M. Wemmers 6. The Prosecute of Expel Dilemma in Far-Away Lands: Alternative universal justice for victims of international crimes, Fannie Lafontaine Part 3. Victims and Society 7. Framing Reparation Claims for Crimes against Humanity: A social-psychological perspective, Katherine Starzyk, Danielle Gaucher, Gregory Boese and Katelin Neufeld 8. The Healing and State? Residential schools and reparations in Canada, Andrew Woolford 9. Transitional Justice in Bosnia-Herzegovina: Understanding accountability, reparation and justice for victims, Nicholas A. Jones, Stephan Parmentier and Elmar G. M. Weitekamp 10. The Art of Acknowledgement: Re-imagining relationships in Northern Ireland , Jill Strauss Part 4. Collective Reparation and the Law 11. The Case for Collective Reparations before the International Criminal Court , Frédéric Mégret 12. Land, Wars and Restoring Justice for Victims , Gabriela Manrique Rueda 13. Reparations Through Different Lenses: The culture, rights and politics of healing and empowerment after mass atrocities , Hugo Van Der Merwe Part 5. Conclusion 14. The Healing Role of Reparation, Jo-Anne M. Wemmers.

Spini, D., Elcheroth, G., & Corkalo Biruski, D. (Eds.). (2013). War, community and social change. Collective experiences in the Former Yugoslavia. New York: Springer.

War, Community, and Social Change documents and analyses how social representations and practices are shaped by collective violence in a context of ethnic discourse. What are the effects of political violence, and what are the effects of collectively experienced victimization on societal norms, attitudes, and collective beliefs? This volume stresses that mass violence has a de- and restructuring role for manifold psychosocial processes. The interdisciplinary approach draws attention to how most people in the former Yugoslavia had to endure and cope with war and dramatic societal changes, but also how they faced and resisted ethnic rivalry, violence, and segregation. It is a departure from the belief that depicts most people in the former Yugoslavia as either blind followers of ethnic war entrepreneurs or as extremists intrinsically motivated for violence by deep-rooted intra-ethnic loyalties and inter-ethnic animosities.

❖ Awards to ISJR Members

Annika Hillebrandt, student of Laurie Barclay, is the 2013 recipient of the Best Master's Thesis award by the Human Resources Research Institute of Canada.

The award recognizes research excellence in the field of Human Resource Management and aims to provide greater visibility to individuals who have completed a master's program in this field. For her thesis, entitled 'Angry or guilty? The effect of coworkers' emotions on employees' fairness perceptions', Hillebrandt will receive a prize of $2,000.

Hillebrandt completed her Master of Science in Management in Organizational Behaviour and Human Resource Management at Laurier in 2012 and is currently a PhD candidate at Laurier. She is the recipient of the prestigious Joseph-Armand Bombardier Canada Graduate Scholarship from the Social Science and Humanities Research Council of Canada, which will support her doctoral research that further explores justice and emotions in the workplace.

❖ Grants to ISJR Members

Relative deprivation

Callan, M. J., & Matthews, W. J. (2013-2016). Personal Relative Deprivation and Status Consumption. The Leverhulme Trust, £129,479.

Victim participation in restorative justice

In January 2013, Dr. Tinneke Van Camp and Professor Joanna Shapland, School of Law, University of Sheffield (UK), started a research project concerning justice motives associated with victim participation in restorative justice. The project is financed by the European Commission as a Marie Curie Actions Intra-European Fellowship. The objective of the study is to better understand what motivates victims to participate in restorative justice. Restorative justice aims to provide an active role for victims and offenders of a particular crime in the search for reparation and conciliation. Put differently, it implies that a victim-participant is willing to engage into communication with the offender. Empirical findings suggest that when agreeing to meet their offenders and confront them with the material and emotional consequences of their delinquent acts, victims are not only looking to meet their own needs but also consider societal interests, including raising victim awareness and helping the offender. Accordingly, restorative justice may serve personal and prosocial motives. The study is looking to identify and explain the personal and societal interests that victim-participants consider. Furthermore, it is intended to see whether such justice motives evolve as the restorative intervention unfolds. To this end, semi-structured interviews are being undertaken in Belgium and the UK with victims who have agreed to participate in victim-offender mediation or restorative conferencing, once as soon as the intervention is initiated and again after its conclusion. Observations made in this study help clarify the role victims are willing to play in the aftermath of crime.

❖ New Affiliations of ISJR Members

Van den Bos

Since September 2013 Kees van den Bos holds a Chair as Professor of Empirical Legal Science at Utrecht University Law School. He fulfills this 0.4 research-oriented position in addition to his current chair in Social (and Organizational) Psychology.

❖ Recent Justice-Related Publications of ISJR Members

- Baumert, A., Beierlein, C., Schmitt, M., Kemper, C. J., Kovaleva, A., Liebig, S., & Rammstedt, B. (in press). Measuring four perspectives of justice sensitivity with two items each. Journal of Personality Assessment.
- Blader, S. L., & Rothman, N. B. (2014) Paving the road to preferential treatment with good intentions: Empathy, accountability and fairness. Journal of Experimental Social Psychology, 50, 65-81.
- Blader, S.L., Wiesenfeld, B.M., Fortin, M., & Wheeler-Smith, S.L. (2013). Fairness lies in the heart of the beholder: How the social emotions of third parties influence reactions to injustice. Organizational Behavior & Human Decision Processes, 121, 62-80.
- Callan, M. J., Harvey, A. J., & Sutton, R. M. (in press). Rejecting victims of misfortune reduces delay discounting. Journal of Experimental Social Psychology.
- Callan, M. J., Sutton, R. M., Harvey, A. J., & Dawtry, R. J. (in press). Immanent justice reasoning: Theory, research, and current directions. Advances in Experimental Social Psychology.
- Fasel, R. & Spini, D. (2013). Shattered beliefs: How to cope when the world is not a just place? In D. Spini, G. Elcheroth, & D. Corkalo Biruski (Eds.), War, community and social change. Collective experiences in the Former Yugoslavia (pp. 183-198). New York: Springer.
- Foschi, M. (2013). The Professional Credentials of Immigrants: A Status-and-Expectations Approach. Advances in Group Processes, 30, 131-155.
- Halmburger, A., Rothmund, T., Schulte, M., & Baumert, A. (2013). Psychological Reactions to Political Scandals: Effects on Emotions, Trust and the Need for Punishment. Politische Psychologie - Journal of Political Psychology, 02, 30-51.
- Harvey, A. J., & Callan, M. J. (2014). The role of religiosity in ultimate and immanent justice reasoning. Personality and Individual Differences, 56, 193-196.
- Hillebrandt, A., & Barclay, L. J. (in press). Integrating organizational justice and affect: New insights, challenges, and opportunities. Social Justice Research. DOI: 10.1007/s11211-013-0193-z
- Lind, E. A., & Van den Bos, K. (in press). Freeing organizational behavior from inhibitory constraints. In B. M. Staw & A. Brief (Eds.), Research in organizational behavior. Greenwich, CT: JAI Press.
- Scheuerman, H. L. (2013). The Relationship between Injustice and Crime: A General Strain Theory Approach. Journal of Criminal Justice, 41, 375–85.
- Scheuerman, H. L. (in press). “Clarifying Criminological and Social Psychological Theory: A Second Look at the Relationship between Injustice and General Strain Theory,” Sociology Compass.
- Scheuerman, Heather L. and Shelley Keith. Forthcoming. “Implications of Court versus Conference: The Relationship between Perceptions of Procedural Justice and Shame

- Management,” Criminal Justice Policy Review. First published on November 8, 2013 (iFirst).DOI:10.1177/0887403413509104.
- Strelan, P., & Van Prooijen, J.-W. (2013). Retribution and forgiveness: The healing effects of punishing for just deserts. European Journal of Social Psychology, 43, 544-553.
- Summereder, S., Streicher, B., & Batinic, B. (2013). Voice or Consistency? What you perceive as procedurally fair depends on your level of power distance. Journal of Cross-Cultural Psychology. Advanced online publication. DOI: 10.1177/0022022113505356
- Van Bommel, M., Van Prooijen, J.-W., Elffers, H., & Van Lange, P. A. M. (in press). Intervene to be seen: The power of a camera in moderating the bystander effect. Social Psychological and Personality Science.
- Van Camp, T. & Wemmers, J.-A. (2013). Victim satisfaction with restorative justice: More than simply procedural justice. International Review of Victimology, 19 (2), 117-143.
- Van Knippenberg, D., Van Prooijen, J.-W., & Sleebos, E. (in press). Beyond social exchange: Collectivism's moderating role in the relationship between perceived organizational support and organizational citizenship behavior. European Journal of Work and Organizational Psychology.
- Van Prooijen, J.-W. (2013). Individualistic and social motives for justice judgments. Annals of the New York Academy of Sciences, 1299, 60-67.
- Van Prooijen, J.-W., & Coffeng, J. (in press). What is fair punishment for Alex or Ahmed? Perspective taking increases racial bias in retributive justice judgments. Social Justice Research.
- Van Prooijen, J.-W., Coffeng, J., & Vermeer, M. (in press). Power and retributive justice: How trait information influences the fairness of punishment among power holders. Journal of Experimental Social Psychology.
- Wu, M. S., Sutton, M. R., Yan, X., Zhou, C., Chen, Y., Zhu, Z., Han, B. (2013). Time frame and justice motive: Future perspective moderates the adaptive function of general belief in a just world. PLoS ONE. DOI: 10.1371/journal.pone.0080668

❖ ISJR Membership and Listserv

You are not a member and would like to join ISJR? Please go to our website to the "Membership" tab: <http://isjr.jimdo.com/membership/> and click "Become a member." Or email Steven Blader, New York University, sblader@stern.nyu.edu.

As a member you will be automatically subscribed to the ISJR listserv. Otherwise, to subscribe to the ISJR listserv, go to: <http://isjr.jimdo.com/membership/listserv/>.

If you are already a member of ISJR, please make sure you renew your membership and keep your membership details updated (in particular your email!): <http://isjr.jimdo.com/membership/>

For further information, please email Michael.Wenzel@flinders.edu.au.